How Your Child Will Be Assessed in Art Class

Your child's grade in art will be based on several key areas to encourage both creativity and responsibility:

- ▶ Class Participation & Effort – Students are expected to be actively engaged, follow directions, use class time wisely, and show consistent effort in their work.
- ▶ Sketchbook Assignments – Sketchbooks will be checked and graded every 7 weeks for completion, creativity, and effort.
- ▶ Class Projects & Artwork – Projects are graded on creativity, use of the elements of art, craftsmanship (neatness and care in work), originality, and completion by the deadline.
- ▶ Bell Work – Students are required to complete 15 minutes of bell work each class period
- ▶ Deadlines & Responsibility – Students are expected to turn in work on time. Late, incomplete, or rushed work will result in a lower grade.
- ▶ Growth & Improvement – Progress is also an important part of assessment. Students are recognized for trying new techniques, improving skills, and taking creative risks.

LATE WORK POLICY

Class time is dedicated to focused studio work and creative development. Students are expected to use this time wisely to complete assignments. Any incomplete classwork—without a valid excuse—will be considered unfinished and must be completed as homework.

Students have up to 3 school days to submit project to Ms. Patino.

10 points will be deducted from the total project grade for each late day, up to 3 days:

Day 1 late : –10 points

Day 2 late : –20 points

Day 3 late: –30 points

The final deadline to submit any late work is by 5:00 PM on the third day, either through email or Schoology. After 3 days, the project will not be accepted unless there is a valid, documented excuse.
